KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

Credit Risk/Default Risk. The possibility for an investor to experience losses due to a borrower's failure to pay principal and/or interest in a timely manner on instruments such as bonds, loans, or other forms of security which the borrower issued.

Reinvestment Risk. The risk associated with the possibility of having lower returns or earnings when maturing funds or the interest earnings of funds are reinvested.

Interest Rate Risk. This is the possibility for an investor to experience losses due to changes in interest rates.

Inflation Risk. The risk that the value of investment is lower than the rate by which the prices of goods and services go up.

- The Fund implements a risk management policy that applies the principles of Value-at-Risk (VAR) and Modified Duration. VaR is defined as a statistical estimate of the amount of loss that an "open" risk position is unlikely to exceed during a given time period with a given level of confidence. Modified Duration is a means to measure the change in the value of a security in response to a change in interest rates. The formula is used to determine the effect that a 1% change in interest rates will have on the price of the bond.
- The Fund's investment outlets have been subject to proper screening and evaluation in accordance with LANDBANK –TBG's accreditation process and minimum regulatory requirements.

REDEMPTION CONDITIONS

Surrender of the Confirmation of Participation or submission of a Letter of Instruction and such other reasonable requirements which the TRUSTEE may require; subject to penalty if redeemed before the minimum holding period.

FUND MANAGER'S REPORT

The opening quarter of 2024 turned out to be quite a rough ride with volatility remaining to be the theme. The overriding concern has been and remains to be U.S. inflation, which would prove to be stickier than initially thought. As things would turn out, U.S. consumer prices re-accelerated in February and March, providing strong impetus for the upward bias in interest rates. This gives the impression that the Federal Reserve may have concluded its rate hiking cycle a little bit prematurely. The inflection point, in our view, would be when U.S. inflation falls below the psychological 3% barrier. However, the U.S. economy is churning out economic data that are predominantly strong which begs the question: is U.S. monetary policy just half-baked and are further rate hikes necessary? With this overhanging uncertainty, volatility should persist, perhaps until the end of the first half. And if inflation continues to rise, we may be in for another extremely challenging year where the Federal Reserve again, would have failed in its assessment of inflation and appropriate monetary policy.

VIEW STRATEGY

There could be a little more upside for interest rates but we are very near the peak. With the current flat shape of the yield curve, it would not be bad to park funds in the short end. But if there are offers for the 10-year ROP of 5.3% and above, take it.

UNIT INVESTMENT TRUST FUND

ABOUT THE LANDBANK GLOBAL $ FUND'S BENCHMARK

Weighted Average Percentage change in the following:

- a. One-year ROP (i.e., the outstanding ROP series with remaining term greater than but nearest to 1 year) – 95%
- b. 1-month U.S. Treasury – 5%

Description of the Benchmarks

- a. One-year ROP
One-year ROP Treasury Bonds are dollar-denominated fixed-income securities issued by the Republic of the Philippines with a maturity period of one year. They are considered to be relatively low-risk investments, backed by the creditworthiness and repayment ability of the Philippine government.
- b. 1-month U.S. Treasury
The shortest U.S. dollar benchmark tenor. Refers to the short-term debt instrument issued by the U.S. Department of the Treasury and has a maturity period of one month.

Key Characteristics

- a. One-year ROP
The One-year ROP Price is determined by assessing the change in the market value of the ROP bonds over the course of one year. This change is influenced by various factors such as market interest rates, credit ratings, and economic conditions. If the market value of the ROP bonds increases, it indicates a positive return, while a decrease suggests a negative return.

As a benchmark, the One-year ROP can serve as a reference point for evaluating the performance of investment funds or portfolios. Investors can compare the returns generated by the fund against the performance of these bonds to assess the performance of the fund.

- b. 1-month U.S. Treasury
Are highly liquid instruments and are considered low-risk investments due to the creditworthiness of the U.S. government. They are backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government, making them virtually risk-free in terms of default.

Relation of the benchmarks to the fund's objectives/investment strategies

The Fund aims to generate a relatively higher income through investments in Dollar-denominated fixed-income securities issued by the National Government and by local companies. To manage liquidity risk, the fund lodges 5% of net assets in 30-day placements.

As such, the weighted average of the one-year ROP (95%) and the 1-month U.S. Treasury Benchmark (5%) is the most appropriate composite benchmark for the fund's performance.

Change in the Benchmark

The amendment to the Fund's benchmark was approved by the LANDBANK Board of Directors on 31 August 2023 through Resolution No. 23-558.
